Farmet Met Fatal Accident

When Horace Bled

Mr. Percy Ashby who resided at West Havelock, Huntington Town, was the victim of an accident on Wednesday afternoon, which proved fatal. It appears that he was engaged in making hay when a severe wind storm came, and the wind blew a quantity of hay about the horses, causing them to become frightened and they ran away. Mr. Ashby was thrown from the hay and received serious injuries from which he succumbed yesterday.

He was 40 years of age, and was a well known and successful farmer. He was well known in the neighborhood where he resided and was universally respected. His untimely death has caused much grief.

PRIME MINISTER CALLS FOR RENEWED ENDEAVOR

Message to Canadians on Entering Fourth Year of War to Consecrate Themselves Afresh With Undaunted Hearts to Allied Cause

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—The Prime Minister gave the following message to the people of Canada calling for renewed consecration for national war effort on the occasion of entering the fourth year of the war:

"Once more we reach the anniversary of that fateful day three years ago when Germany challenged the future of democracy and the freedom of the world. The resolve of the nations of the British Commonwealth is now once more renewed. To-day they again affirm an invincible determination to sustain the ideals of liberty and justice to a victorious issue."

The anniversary brings to us proud yet solemn memories. With an intense realization of all the sacrifice and sorrow entailed on our people, we are conscious that Canada has vindicated her place among the world's greatest and truest democracies. Assuredly her sons have not suffered and died in vain, if liberty and justice are to have any meaning in the future of humanity.

...the democracy of Russia has not yet girded on its full strength; on this occasion the mightiest Republic to the south is still occupied in that necessary process of rearmament without which no one can ever hope to survive. The Russian people are the only people who will continue to manning with the highest courage and desperate forces that are arrayed against us it might be said that any nation should relax its endeavor, whether from loss of heart or in reliance upon the strength of others. The mightiest effort of each is needed to ensure the triumph without which all that is dear to us is lost, and the world's future abroved in darkness and despair. Let us today in Canada rededicate our ranks, renew ourselves for another year of struggle, and with undiminished hearts consecrate our fullest powers to the cause for which already our best and bravest have striven and suffered and fallen."

THE MESSAGE NOW!

Ontario's Crop Must Be Harvested

Three months ago, in order to avert famine and World Hunger, the farmers of Ontario were urged to seed every possible acre.

To-day, thanks to their response, and favorable weather conditions, we have the result in a record crop of foodstuffs.

As we appealed to the farmers in April and May to plant, so now do we appeal to the employers of labor and their employees for help to harvest this crop.

We have applications on hand for over two thousand men, and thousands more are needed if the harvest is to be fully saved.

It would be nothing short of a crime were one pound of food to be lost for want of men to gather it.

Loyalty to the men we have sent overseas, to our fellow-citizens in the Homeland, and to our Allies demands immediate and effective action.

The actual need for men exists to-day, and will continue to exist until the last sheaf of wheat and barley and oats is under cover.

The late season has brought haying, the hoeing of our root crops, and the harvesting of our grains crowding together.

Every man who can be released from his present occupation for the next month is needed.

Those who came from the farm can naturally render the greatest service, but able-bodied men, willing to work, should not hold back for lack of experience.

In the present emergency—all can serve.

Every Mayor of every city and town in Ontario is being informed where men should register

In comparison with the sacrifices being made by our men in the trenches, the most that any man is called upon to sacrifice in helping with the harvest must be insignificant.

Those who cannot serve in the first line of defence can serve in what Lloyd George has so well called "The Second Line of Defence."

The Honorable W. J. Hanna, Food Controller for Canada, has laid upon us Men of Ontario the duty of harvesting the record crop with which, under the kind hand of Providence, the Province has been blessed.

He called upon us for the sake of the Empire (and he knows the real need) that the harvest is not lost; and, having been gathered, that none of it should be wasted.

As Prime Minister of Ontario, I call upon Employers to make it easy for their Employees to assist, and upon Employees to face the obligation of the hour in a Spirit of Service and Loyalty.

Our Manufacturers, our Government Departments, our Municipalities, the Members of our Wholesale and Retail Trades, our Financial Institutions, in short, every employer of labor need release but a very small percentage of the men employed to place the required help at the disposal of the farmer.

If the men who have come from the farms in recent years, and the members of organized labor bodies, with these able-bodied men in every walk of life, display the Spirit of Patriotism which is in them, the harvest will be reaped.

I confidently call upon every Industrial Centre of Ontario to organize at once to secure the ten thousand men who are needed.

W. H. HEARST,
Prime Minister of Ontario

Adrift For Days In Open Boat On Lake Ontario

WATERLOO, Aug. 6.—Adrift four days in an open boat out on Lake Ontario without food or shelter from the hot July sun, was an experience long undergone by J. W. Crulshank, of Rochester, when he arrived here last evening on his way from Cape Vincent and his appearance bore out the story he told. He was so weak from fasting as to be hardly able to climb aboard the southeast train, his eyes were bloodshot from sleepless nights and his face, neck and arms were burned and blistered to a sick-brick color.

For four days and nights, from Friday last to Tuesday, Mr. Crulshank had drifted helplessly in his little skiff out in mid-lake without a morsel of food and only lake water for drink. He passed during the time through two thunder storms. It was an experience that given him a thorough appreciation of what a cat-in-the-hat man must endure.

Mr. Crulshank planned last week that when his Saturday vacation arrived he would make a trip to his 150-foot skiff propelled by an outboard motor lake to Otonago Island, thence from Charlotte. So he ordered a freight-car car of gasoline left at his boat house, which was delivered, as he found the car standing bare on the dock when he arrived Friday evening. A friend helped him get launched and among other things placed the car aboard, and out of Charlotte harbor and headed down the lake.

When the sun came up Saturday morning nothing was in sight, but water, while under the blaze of mid-day turned to a glittering, heat-stricken expanse. Without food or shelter, straining his eyes around the circle of the horizon to catch sight of a speck that would prove to be a rescuer boat, Mr. Crulshank passed that day, Sunday and Monday, the only change in the situation being when on Sunday and again on Monday thunder clouds rolled up from the southwest with a roaring wind which lashed the lake into white caps while the rain came down in torrents, the downpour and tumbling waves threatening every minute to swamp the little craft and the occupant being obliged to bail desperately with an old tin can to keep afloat.

Sighted by Big Bear, some score or so miles Crulshank sighted away of the shore or south a big lion-like vessel, an excursion steamer, but his frantic waving of his signal flag passed this time unnoticed. At last, when a small boat came to be connected with the Canadian aviation service had been arrested in Otonago, he, on charges of obtaining supplies at a local hardware store, was taken to the U. S. Government. Two men of the same name and wearing the uniforms of the Canadian first corps crossed the lake from Brockville, Ont., to Morrisburg, N.Y., with a motor truck and July 10 they had passports settling them in Morrisburg, N.Y., and the immigration there Canada and told the immigration that they had come to this side of the lake on charges of a Canadian military deserter and that they were deserters. They said they were very tired and had the ship's papers on their truck and return with them to the United States. They further explained that the reason they had not crossed the line at Otonago was because the ferry had been so small that they could not carry their truck. The authorities accepted their stories and allowed them to pass. When they did not return to Morrisburg and nothing further was heard regarding him, the Government officials in Otonago, who crossed the line at another place, the press dispatches announcing the arrest in Otonago brought the first word regarding the present whereabouts of the man.

In crossing the ferry with their truck the men presented Government orders covering their transportation which were accepted by the ferry men. So far as is known here no flying machine landed near Otonago. However, a Waterloo paper about that time contained a story that a diamond airplane had descended at near Otonago, but the incident was verified.

The press dispatches state that Dean and Fisher insisted that their credentials were genuine, and that they were on their way to Miami to secure a safe passage.

Mr. Crulshank came up to the city on the train at 6 o'clock last evening and left by next train for his Rochester home, having had only the last trip on Lake Ontario aboard a skiff that he will take some time, as dry land looks pretty good to him now.

TRINIDAD, Aug. 18.—Rushy troops have captured the German frontier on the Maricao-Batavia border.

Two villages have been captured and the prisoners taken. Striking proof of the determination of the Spanish troops was given in the vicinity of Maricao which held 120000 prisoners fighting with bayonets and stones between the El Estero road and Maricao. Lamentable were the uprisings of the prisoners.

These prisoners exhausted their cartridges, the prisoners said, but fought down the Germans with such weapons as they could get hold of. The enemy captured only a few, in the face of the desperate resistance, the Russians retreating eastward.

The War Office statement reported the Russians conducting an "energetic offensive." Several fighting was reported in which the enemy was driven out of the village of Chibich, and Vyryty. The heights to the west of the latter point were also captured.

The offensive was limited at the conclusion of the El Estero and Desfile Rivers.

The offensive started by the Russians in the Maricao-Batavia border, north of Chibich, it was in this region that the Russians reported the Germans' heavy, harrowing capture.

Take Off Your Coat and Give the Farmer a Hand!

When, three months ago, we called upon Ontario's farmers for mighty efforts to avert the threatened Famine and World-Hunger, they responded splendidly.

Aided by Providential weather, Ontario's Crop is one of the biggest in her history.

The farmer has done his part.

We Town and City men must do our part.

The crop is on the ground—the farmer can't possibly take it off unaided.

To lose a sheaf of it for want of harvest-help would be an unthinkable crime.

We call upon the Men of Ontario to rouse themselves. To co-operate, employee with employer, in this patriotic service. Many employers have agreed to make it financially possible for their employees to do this work, and the Ontario Government will pay railway fare both ways of all men who go.

Help us, so that we may send word to Ontario's Sons in the trenches—that Ontario's Second Line of Defence stands fast, —that here, as well as there, we "Carry On."

Among The Totem Poles In Alaska

Atku Island, Alaska, is farther westward than San Francisco than that city is westward of Eastport, Maine. To the average person, the word "farther" is synonymous with gold and glaciers, but of the country itself he knows less than that of any other spot on the globe. Alaska contains forests equal to those of Norway, that Alaska contains more than two hundred immense and fertile valleys, that Alaska contains more near neighbors to active volcanoes, such as Wrangell, whose smoking, conic form rises the eastern end of the island, than any other of the thirty thousand miles long. Nor does he realize the climatic variations that are to be found in Alaska, where the coldest of the world is found in the north, that of St. Louis, the warmest mountains of San Francisco; and where the climate is identical records of the climate of the identical records of the climate of the north in the Arctic Circle during the summer months for forty days out of every year.

River Inlet, Ngonu, Bella Bella, Millbank Sound, Fitzroy Channel, they all slip by in the night as the ship streams northward. Morning brings Swanson Bay, where there is an immense mill turning Douglas firs into paper pulp.

At the mouth of the Strenna a fleet of salmon boats is encountered on the ground. Copper has made Ketchikan but the tourist will perhaps be most interested in the many points of the river, which is navigable for miles.

Blow To Nation Feared

A message to the New York Tribune from San Francisco, says: "Alarmed by the burning of stacks and grain fields, attacked by rancor of a great sabotage drive on the produce of the fields and vineyards as the actual farm labor story is unfolded, California is in bitter mood toward the I.W.W."

Within two weeks this state is likely to be confronted by the most critical moment in its industrial and labor history. Record crops have reached a great effort to help the nation in the food crisis. For great are the crops that some authorities say that 4,000 more laborers than there is any chance of getting could be used to harvest.

The opportunity is a golden one for the agitators. If their influence is great enough they can have the state by the throat. It is perhaps in their power to reduce greatly the harvest by withholding labor through destruction, or terrorism. The destruction of one group of warehouses by fire would mean the loss of $10,000,000 worth of grain. A few stacks of dry-milk powder already placed on shore, the crops on 170,000 acres in a single locality.

There is abundant evidence that this stab-in-the-back attack is well fitted. The money apparatus comes through Mexico, presumably from Germany. Mexico, Honduras and Chinese laborers, long idle, are in ample funds. It is suspected that the plan is to kill the farmers late, security by terrorism, of abundant help which will be fulfilled. Then, when the producers are facing the prospect of total loss of their crops they will, it is expected, make peace with the I. W. W. as they have. Wholesale incineration is reckoned to make the harvest amenable to I. W. W. reasons.

California farmers think the situation calls for a specific sort of industrial action than is provided by a general strike. They say that the producers that know would be provided they have raised income crops. Now that the extra labor is not being delivered, they argue that it is up to the government to protect them against I. W. W. activity, destruction and terrorism.

Life in this time it has been the policy of official California to avoid publicity regarding the I. W. W. on the ground that publicity would lead to further disorders and play into the hands of the agitator by suggesting ill-effects of the published information. The news yielding the belief that public opinion will not possibly be gained. Unless the alien pressures are removed.

ported to the I. W. W. may stir a blow in California that will stagger the nation's voluntary, selective army.

Selective Draft Success in U.S.

The success of the draft in the United States proved its popularity as a democratic measure, according to a report from Major General H. H. Crowder, of Washington, the man chiefly responsible for the operation of the conscription law there.

Headed in the same way, it should be a successful popular campaign in Canada whose "house rule" government is so much like that of the United States, he declares.

The secret of America's comparative freedom from draft riots was that the resistance and antagonism of conscripts was in the hands of their own neighbors and friends in civil life.

"The soldier appeared at a man's home and secured him for the registration booth," said Gen. Crowder. "The soldier examined him and his military court passed on his claim for exemption. The people themselves called upon the men from 18 to 30 years of age to present themselves for registration, selective army."

"And then consisted of one per cent. failed to register. When you consider that ten million men were registered in the United States in seven days of the law's passage and that 125,000 volunteers came in 4,587 booths throughout the United States you can appreciate the success and popularity of the draft."

"Some conscientious objectors and anarchists are heard in denunciation of the draft; there may be some attempts to escape service by trickery, but in a country as large as this you are certain to run across a number of such cases. They are insignificant."

Crowder turned the large percentage of exemption claims into an argument showing the popularity of the draft.

"That is what the law intended," he said. "We do not want men who are physically unfit for war. We have a country that we need a law to select those who should bear the burden of the fighting. We took a big chance by registering all the men without military force but the results proved the wisdom of the plan."

"As you know registration day was an almost universal holiday of the nation. There were parades in hundreds of cities. There were no outdoor incidents."

"Local self-government in draft matters, following the same policy in civil and political life, was the cornerstone of America's conscription law."

"The same common law which is the basis of our life in the United States is the basis of Canada's Government," said Gen. Crowder. "The draft worked smoothly here; it ought to be popular there."

Fight Started Against Disease

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—An extensive educational campaign having for its object the stamping out of disease arising from the social evil, was inaugurated here at a conference last evening between representatives of the military and police authorities. The public, and the campaign will be in effecting this object. The campaign is to be carried out by the military authorities, but will be aimed at the general public rather than at the military community of this city. The disease have from the outbreak of war been a standing-block in the way of military efficiency, but it is not so much their prevalence in the army as it is their prevalence in the civilian population that must be overcome. Medical officers of the Canadian forces pointed out at yesterday's meeting that the military authorities have the situation in hand so far as it affects them; and that every man now comes under their attentive supervision of a system of weekly inspections, may then be fully copied with and cured. But in the case of the civilian there is not the same supervision as exists in the army. The campaign aims to strike at the roots of the evil, as it affects both the men in militia and those in civil life.

Valuable statistics. "Until the outbreak of the war there was practically no way in which to check the spread of disease, or the disease could be obtained. But with the war, and every man now comes under medical supervision there came opportunity to compile statistics, and some of these were read at the conference yesterday. They do not do much with the men in the army as with conditions found outside the army. These could be influenced on a sound basis from data given by military patients, and they are a startling figure. From this data Capt. Gordon Bates, of the Medical Corps, was able to conclude that some 80 per cent of the soldiers in this city and surrounding centers are suffering from the disease a year longer than from the disease arising from the social evil."

1,000 MEN OUT OF 1,350 RETURN TO THE FRONT

Great Return for Special Treatment in Long Military Hospital

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 9.—Out of one detail of 1,350 wounded men sent for special treatment to a London hospital suffering from crushed and broken bones, 1,000 were able to return to the front at the front, according to Major J. E. Goldthwait, an orthopedic surgeon of the United States army special reserve corps, who arrived here today from London. Major Goldthwait is one of twenty American military officers who have been in France and England observing and studying the methods of treating wounded.

He said he was returning to the United States to recruit surgeons, and added that he was not for the successful methods of the British, and that the new method it would be better to let some of the men die, rather than to allow them to recover and continue through life the cripples they would be under such a long stay.

Election First Cries Quebec

Wants Conscription Deferred Until After General Election—Premier's Majority

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Having once all in their power to prevent the conscription bill from passing the two houses, and having failed, Quebec papers, almost without exception, are now leading their efforts to secure delay in passing the measure for a few months until after a general election.

Le Canada on Monday published an appeal to the Duke of Devonshire to stop the measure until an election day followed along the same line. Its argument is that when elections are held either the conscription or anti-conscription forces will win. If the anti-conscription forces win, the government would have to abandon the conscription law.

Of course, what Quebec wants is a general election. Conservative papers like the Free Press do not seem to open up against conscription, but they have never ceased to call for an election, and are doing so still. Le Presser no longer holds either the position or the opinion that it is the only thing that will clear the air, for in the event of the conscription law winning, Quebec will be shown that it is in the minority on this issue, and will have to give it. This giving is, says Le Presser, will not be surprising, for it is the events of the Conservative winning the election, Quebec will no longer oppose conscription. Whether this is true or not seems little will.

Irishman To Raise Regiment of Jews

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The War Office has decided to raise a Jewish regiment of Jews in the British army, or brigade, and the work will be undertaken by Lieut. Col. J. H. Patterson, D.S.O., an Irishman. It has been estimated that there are 60,000 Jews in the British army, including 30,000 in the Jewish army as foreign service. It is intended to employ the Jewish army in Palestine, and they will be in the way of the Jewish army. They will be in the way of the Jewish army and the Jewish army will be in the way of the Jewish army.

"Just such firm as Ostrom's Drug of its superior merit as a medicine, but because of the prominence and reliability of the firm which has its enormous sale as well."

to be situated here in place to it will be a matter of time to place it

Brigade Soldier Escaped From Hunns

Thrilling Adventures of Canadian Soldier Who Escaped From German War Prison

KINGSTON, Aug. 15.—Pte. Ralph Dunsbury, of Kingston, and Pte. H.
 Henderson, two Canadian prisoners of war in Germany have escaped from their prisoners and are now in Landoon. Pte. Dunsbury is an optician and Pte. Henderson is a printer. They left their prison, having been held here on November 10, 1914. He went through the basement part of the early building and was taken prisoner at the latter part of the war in June, 1916.

Had Rough Time
 Speaking to the Canadian Association, the men said they had a pretty rough time. They had been working in the mines for a long time. No actual brutality to the prisoners took place so long as they worked hard. Being in the mine condition, Henderson and Dunsbury were able to escape. The latter, however, was in a bad way. The prison from the Red Cross arrived, mostly in good shape. The men were the prisoners would certainly have been some time in the prison. We solved for a long time to try get out. said Henderson. "The prison was a bad one. It was a hard and we managed to save something. The men were in a bad way of months. Having the same when we went out in working condition. The men were in a bad where we had got them all.

Saved Their Food
 It was hard to get to be able to eat the food some days, but we had some of our meals that this was the only way of getting some food for an eight-mile journey to the front.
 One night we were out a bit later than usual, so just as darkness was coming we slipped off without causing an alarm. We went for our hidden parcels and found them all right, although some were a bit soaked. We could not be guaranteed against this. We did very well on the whole, for we nobody who asked us any questions. Of course, we did not travel in daylight.

A Friendly Chicken
 Once we found a friendly chicken was still around. The last of the for a week. It was good food, the weather was fine. The men were in a bad frontier a grant came out, but he was not a bit surprised to find out. We were in a bad way, and treated very badly, being fitted out with new clothes, and some tools, some having been worn to bits.

A private of the Royal Scots P-sultures got away with us. We should not have done so well if we had not thought it all out well in advance.
 "Things seem to be going better for the German civilians."

Pte. Dunsbury was a resident of Brighton, Ont., and received his first training at Harrold camp.

The Man Behind the Lens

Don't thoroughly understand the combined mechanism of the human eye that you are left to invent a way to correct the error and disfigure it? Perfect lens must be free from glare, highly polished, and Optician correct, a lens that exactly right will relieve strain, and, in any case, it will be better than the one that is not. IT IS OUR BUSINESS to determine by a careful examination what the true eye is, and then to supply it exactly right.

A New Wagon Road for Tourists

A 1928, having been operated since the year 1886, the year the first snowsheds were constructed, the old Rogers Pass is to become a wagon road for tourists, the right-of-way having been handed over by the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Parks Department of the Dominion Government. The brief statement recently made by Mr. F.

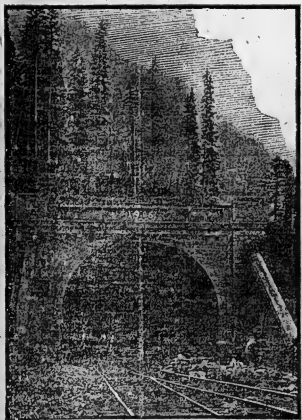

W. Peters, Superintendent of the British Columbia Division, that a contract had been awarded to the S. E. Jenkins Company for the widening of the tracks and the snowsheds means that this famous piece of trackage will, within the next three months, be a thing of the past. The steel lies between Camble and Stony Creek stations. For over thirty years the trains of the C. P. R. known as the Rogers Pass Tunnel, have passed and repassed over this well known route. It was in 1883 that the work of construction was commenced, but it was not until the following year that the first train was run that way to the Pacific Coast. The distance between the two stations is approximately eight-and-a-half miles, and the extent of the snowshed is four and one-half miles, so that the task of the salvage firm is not an easy one. The more up-to-date Comnaught Tunnel, formerly known as the Rogers Pass Tunnel, while it deprives the travelling public of a view that is unequalled on the continent, at the same time ensures safety from the avalanches that are prevalent in that district in the spring, and the heavy snowfalls in the winter. Old officials of the line can tell some hair-raising stories of the narrow escapes they experienced, and the toll of lives that the snow has taken in the years that are gone. The greatest fight that any corporation ever waged against an enemy was that fought by the C. P. R. against the snowfalls in the Rogers Pass, and there are today men, still in the service of the Company, who men lost their lives.

It is not expected that the work of converting the former right-of-way into a wagon road will be undertaken this year, but it is anticipated that it will be completed in time for the tourist traffic of 1918. It will be one of the finest scenic highways in Canada, and by its tourists will be enabled to travel between Field and Glacier, getting magnificent views of the scenery along that road, that it was impossible to secure before.

France And Pope's Peace Note

FRANCE'S official position will not answer the Pope's peace note individually, since it has not representatives at the Vatican, but Great Britain will doubtless tender a reply in the name of the Entente. The French Government's views on the note, therefore, are unobtainable officially.

An important figure in the political life of France, whose speciality is foreign politics, said to the Associated Press today that while the humanitarian character of the Pope's step was incontestable, he had in specifying the Balkan question, posed the most formidable problem with which the peace negotiations have to deal. This question, it was stated, involved a mass of contradictions, interests and irreconcilable reports of all nations that has spread about the Balkan peninsula.

Regarding the Belgian question, it was stated, it was impossible to reconcile the independence of which the Pope speaks with the regime of servitude prescribed by the Germans.

"In addition," said this man, "were one to accept the familiar theory about the absence of indemnity one would be doing nothing; less than maintaining a retrogression of several centuries which Germany by its new war methods, is imposing upon mankind."

"If, obedient to the suggestions of the Pope, the German Government should be quite for its depredations in Belgium and northern France, if individuals are not to be indemnified for losses inflicted by German troops, German industry, which has not suffered from invasion, and German commerce, could safely go on from the point at which they stopped at the outbreak of the war, while French industry and French commerce would need at least twenty-five years to rise from their ruins."

The Pope certainly could not have seen that his proposal, generous in appearance would have singularly irreconcilable consequences.

Five Gunners Died in U-Boat

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Capt. Oliver of the American tanker, Campana, and the five naval gunners taken prisoners when the tanker was sunk by a German submarine on Aug. 6, may have met death along with their captors, according to members of the Campaign's crew who reached an American port today. It was said that the submarine with the Americans aboard was sunk by a French patrol boat shortly after its attack upon the Campana.

SHELLEY GONK, SURRENDER

J. H. Bruce, third mate of the Campana, said that the attack occurred while his vessel was off the Irish coast. After an unequal fight in which the submarine fired 400 shots and the Campana 100 shots the Americans were forced to surrender. The battle lasted four hours. During it the submarine was able to stand outside the range of the Campana's guns and shell the tanker. Not until every bit of ammunition of the Campana was exhausted did the Americans hear the international signal of surrender.

For as long after the Campana's guns had ceased firing the submarine continued to shell the vessel, evidently thinking that the silence of the tanker was a ruse. Of the 400 shots fired by the submarine only two took effect. The submarine was armed with a 5-inch and a 4-inch gun and the drifting was at a range of from 7,500 to 7,600 yards.

ROOM FOR SIX PRISONERS

After the signal of surrender the members of the crew of the Campana with the naval gunners put off in four boats. On approaching the submarine Bruce saw that it was the U.S. The captain of the submarine informed the Americans that the German Government had issued orders to all submarine commanders to capture all American gunners possible and bring them to the German submarine base.

TROUT FISHING IN THE LAURENTIAN LAKES

TROUT is in Eastern Canada a little fellow, which like to rise to the fly, and you can fill a creel in a very short time. In the main some of these trout fisheries which are as good as the black bass and as plentiful as the rainbow. That region is the district which lies between St. Agathe and Montserrat in the Laurentian Province of Quebec, and its fertile lakes, and streams abound with gray and speckled trout, which, according to many experts with the rod, have no equal elsewhere for size, abundance and variations in color.

The lake runs north from Montreal by Montserrat over the Canadian Pacific to only a six hour ride, or to put it in another way, starting at Montreal one reaches St. Agathe in 24 hours, Lacolle in 4 hours, and Montserrat in 4 hours, while the distances from those and other stopping points to the adjacent or nearby lakes and streams varies from one-tenth of a mile to four miles, except Montserrat, where the very nearest lake is 12 miles distant from the Canadian Pacific line. Another important feature that makes this splendid trout-fishing region absolutely unique is that a score of lakes, and as many streams, are as yet totally unexplored, and there, as one expert with the pole and fly puts it, "the trout are practically unexploited, with an unending way of saying that they will grow and reap as a fly the current they spot the gaily counterfeits."

The most unique feature of this trout-fishing region is the Laurentian, which is the infinite or endless variety of the run, and to keep the trout from peak there will suffice. Next, a stream for St. Agathe, only 13 miles distant from St. Agathe. Drop of at St. Agathe, and an eighth of a mile away in Square Lake, where the trout, being with fly, or trout that this get a week of good speaking trout fishing with fly; you can prolong your stay in the Lacolle district by a week's fishing in Lake Wapiti and else away from the station, you can find a week of good speaking trout fishing with fly; you can prolong your stay in the Lacolle district by a week's fishing in Lake Wapiti and there, where good fly-fishing is obtained. A couple of weeks at those 23 miles from Lacolle, that you will get all that the expert fisher with rod and fly can desire. Here is a series of small lakes—Pilot Mountain, St. Joseph, St. James, St. Louis, and St. Charles—all of which abound beyond dream in speckled trout, varying in size from 1 lb. to 8 lbs. They are as game and tricky as the black bass, and exceedingly beautiful in hue.

They show small, but appreciable difference in size, shape, color and taste. So that the fisherman may always rely on getting from anywhere he be provided from lake to lake in the Laurentian region. It should be added that the trout in these lakes appear especially in the expert who gives himself to his ability to use a fly.

Large gray trout are to be caught in the bigger lakes, especially Grand Lac, Lacolle, Montserrat and Lacolle. Just the first in the best and most popular with the devotees of this kind of sport. The trout must be done with spoon bait or minnow, and from a short morning canoe. For variety one may try the fly, but this has been found practically ineffective. The reason is that in May, when the trout season opens, few trout hatchlings are sent on the big lake, and the gray trout, being a good student of nature, seems to know this, and will not be fooled by the artificial fly.

There is sure to be a marked scarcity of desirable fabrics as the season advances, and of course a corresponding increase in the price of the same. The Spirit Of The Gift

The following letter to L.G. McLaughlin, now commanding the "Iron Second" heroes of Ypres, is both graceful and suggestive. The series of letters may be found in the "Gift" and all go to and to likewise. The following acknowledgment came from the list in Colonel Patton's letter to the Canadian Infantry Battalion, Eastern Ontario Regiment, Aug. 19, 1917.

Colonel W. N. Patton, R.C., Belleville, Ont.

Dear Col. Patton—I should like you to convey to the ladies of Queensboro, Ontario, the most cordial thanks of the County of Hastings boys to the list of donations.

Nothing is calculated to brave up the spirits of the men more than the conviction that our people at home are doing their best to help them.

This conviction substantiated by very appropriate and thoughtful gifts of the ladies of Queensboro is a source of real satisfaction and is a source of a very hard campaign with considerably more quantity and confidence than most other gifts.

Yours L. T. McLAUGHLIN

OBSEQUES LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of the late Martin Doyle, Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hitchcock of the fifth congregation of Thurlow township, who died suddenly on Monday last, took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, and was largely attended. After a brief service at the house, by Revs. Messrs. Kemp and McMillan, the remains were taken to Glenside Methodist church, where an impressive service was held. The church was filled to overflowing with relatives and friends. Rev. Messrs. Kemp and McMillan officiated. Upon the chair, formerly occupied by the deceased, in the choir loft of the church, rested a beautiful floral design of a broken wheel, the gift of the friends of the deceased. Many other floral tributes were placed upon the casket by relatives and friends. The bearers were J. Sheffeld, A. Balaquest, N. Martin, C. Clare, H. Spencer and A. Wallace.

Music and Drama

A STORY OF LOVE AND HATE.

An unusually good programme was shown at the John Hinchcock hall, and will be repeated tonight. The feature picture was "The Cost of Hatred" with a theme of once-travel and striking, full of action, love interest and thrills. The story is a tale out of the better path that it is well worth seeing. The educational film of the lumber industry from the forest to the mills is very instructive and interesting and the further features of the "Universal Girl" complete a very good programme.

WEALTH, SOCIETY AND THE UNDERWORLD.

Supporting Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Barnes in the 15 chapter Metro serial "The Great Secret" at the Palace tomorrow and Saturday, nature and light are actors of action. The picture has world-wide reputations, former police officials, and men who have turned from crime to politics and to the realm of respectability. All of these are interested in their own proper persons, as well as on account of the fact that they are completely fitted to play the parts assigned to them, each having been chosen to embody the particular type that is called upon to play. The role of a society "bird" is given in a real debutante, a girl whose very presence betokens the atmosphere in which she has been reared, and disconcerting scenes by a famous cowboy of the Western plains. "The Great Secret" presents a perfect series of scenes from the life of a woman whose name is Edward J. Connelley, Helen Barnes, Fred R. Harris, Belle Brown, "Annamay" Young and other characters. The fact is that the picture is a very good programme.

"THE RUNNING FIGHT."

Yvonne Henning, a pretty little Miss of eighteen, had never seen the footlights except in amateur performances but believed in herself and made her debut on the screen in a highly dramatic role as well worthy of an actress of years of experience. Miss Henning made her bow in "The Running Fight" at Grifin's tomorrow night, and Saturday. There is nothing unusual in the history of Miss Henning. It reads like that of many who look forward to the screen work. She was born in Stratford, Ont., and during her high school days developed a remarkable talent in amateur dramatics. Her beautiful voice led friends to urge her to enter the theatre. To obtain better opportunities for Miss Henning was developed a theatre and picture work and gradually gave up her study for dramatics.

FRENCH LINER ELUDED RUN SUB

An Atlantic Post, Aug. 3.—A thrilling story of a two-hour running battle with a submarine during which the new bombs, which showed vessels in a cloud of black smoke, were used as means of defence, was told by passengers arriving here on a French steamship today. The submarine attacked the vessel at 4:45 a.m. on August 29th, just out of the Bay of Biscay. Most of the women passengers were still in bed and at the dinner signal came tumbling in deck in various places of the ship. The boats were blown away at the blast which would be plainly seen before the smoke screen was released. The new submarine looks like a series of huge chess boxes swung on the side of the ship. The boats were blown from three boxes and left lower down clouds of smoke. The passengers said the screen was entirely of tissue.
